ORDINANCES FOR RECONSIDERATION.

President Bradley called for ordinances for reconsideration.

6-S & F-p.

The City Clerk read "Ordinance amending Ordinance 6-S & F-e, adopted January 17, 2001, 'An Ordinance of the City of Newark, New Jersey, to preserve excess funds paid under the lease from the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey', by utilizing said funds for revaluation and the establishment of a New Markets Initiative and Workforce Training Opportunity Program."

(Copy of ordinance and correspondence submitted to each Member of the Council)
(Ordinance vetoed by the Mayor September 13, 2001)

The City Clerk stated the question before the Council is "Shall the Municipal Council override the Mayor's veto of "Ordinance amending Ordinance 6-S & F-e, adopted January 17, 2001, 'An Ordinance of the City of Newark, New Jersey, to preserve excess funds paid under the lease from the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey', by utilizing said funds for revaluation and the establishment of a New Markets Initiative and Workforce Training Opportunity Program."?"

The City Clerk read the following veto message from Mayor Sharpe James:

Dear Mr. Marasco:

Ordinance 6PHS&Fe adopted September 5, 2001 by the Municipal Council is rejected. As set forth in my prior correspondence of January 24, 2001, I question the legality of the ordinance as well as its practicality. Limiting the utilization of anticipated revenues in perpetuity has a chilling effect on the Office of the Mayor and the ability to balance the annual operating budget, stabilize taxes, support essential services and continue to meet the needs of the residents of the City of Newark

Although a New Markets Initiative Program and a Workforce Training Opportunity Program for Newark residents is a concept that I could support, redirecting rent revenues to fund the programs is not appropriate. It is my opinion that more specificity is required before establishing such a trust fund. If and when the programs are developed with cost projections, funding should be established through the normal budget process.

Very truly yours,

Sharpe James
Mayor

A motion to override the Mayor's veto of this ordinance was made by Council Member Chaneyfield Jenkins, seconded by Council Member Tucker and declared adopted by President Bradley by the following votes:

Yes: Council Members Booker, Carrino, Chaneyfield Jenkins, Quintana, Tucker, Walker.

No: Council Member Bridgeforth, President Bradley.

Absent: Council Member Amador.
